Safescape Wins John Logie Baird Award October 2000

Safescape tops Awards in Lanarkshire

Safescape has won the Scottish Innovation John Logie Baird Awards for Innovation in the Business Category in Lanarkshire.

The competition is judged on Originality, Market Potential, Market Research, Development Stage and Entrepreneurial Potential.

Avril McNeill, Director of Alert Safety Technologies, the company behind the idea, said, "We always knew this was a good idea with lots of potential. Winning the Award confirms this. Hopefully this will be the first of many."

Safescape is an emergency exit system for trains and buses. Emergency escape is made much easier, simpler and safer for passengers caught up in an evacuation situation.
